M

You are relentlessly thoughtful, selfless & determined and you are going to be the best mother in the world. I only hope our child gets the majority of your genes, and maybe some of my red hair & dimples sprinkled in

I can't wait to raise a family with you, grow old with you, and constantly fall in love with you, day-in and day-out.

But don't take my word for it.

What a better way to celebrate the handwritten first draft queen herself than with a timeless collection of those who know you best & love you most from near and far.

Cheers to the best life with the best wife.

Forever & always
